STATEMENT OF FACTS AND MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND
AUTHORITIES IN SUPPORT OF MOTIONS

I.

STATEMENT OF FACTS¹

Armando Aramburo-Urbe is a twenty-three year old young man with no prior criminal record. On February 20, 2008, at approximately 1:00 p.m., Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was stopped by Officer Ballesteros as he exited the Westside Pedestrian Gate Area (WPGA) at the San Ysidro Port of Entry. The WPGA is the area that leads from the United States into Mexico. On that day, law enforcement officer were operating a temporary checkpoint inside the WPGA to inspect pedestrians heading southbound into Mexico.

According to the report of investigation, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was seen exiting the pedestrian line leading from the United States into Mexico and seen returning northbound. Officer Ballesteros believed that

¹ This statement of facts is taken from the criminal complaint, indictment, and discovery provided by the government. Mr. Aramburo does not adopt these facts and reserves the right to challenge these facts at any future proceeding. Mr. Aramburo will file a declaration regarding his recollection of the events prior to the hearing on these motions.

1 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe turned around and decided not to enter Mexico after observing law enforcement
2 conducting random southbound inspections. Officer Ballesteros stopped Mr. Aramburo-Urbe after he turned 3 around and was walking away from the WPGA. Officer Ballesteros asked Mr. Aramburo-Urbe for his 4 identification, patted him down, and asked him to step aside. Officer Ballesteros did not advise
5 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe of his rights under Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 (1966), or that he was free to leave
6 or refuse consent for a search. Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was ordered to produce the contents of his pockets and 7 questioned.

8 According to the report of investigation, when asked by Officer Ballesteros where he was going,
9 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe stated that he was going to Mexico, but that he left his phone at the Nike store.
10 According to the report, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe appeared nervous. Officer Ballesteros asked Mr. Aramburo-
11 Uribe why he was nervous and Mr. Aramburo-Urbe allegedly stated, "because you're talking to me." Officer 12 Ballesteros claims to have asked Mr. Aramburo-Urbe if he was carrying any "money." He further claims that 13 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe stated that he was not carrying money. However, when asked to empty his pockets,
14 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe produced several blank money orders. Officer Ballesteros estimated that they totaled 15 around $11,000. Officer Ballesteros then advised Mr. Aramburo-Urbe of the reporting requirements, which 16 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe acknowledged. The report of investigation notes that there were no currency reporting
17 signs posted in the WPGA.

18 Despite the fact that Mr. Aramburo-Urbe never reached the inspection area, was leaving the WPGA
19 when stopped, and was no longer heading toward Mexico, Officer Ballesteros took Mr. Aramburo-Urbe,
20 along with his identification which he had taken from him, and what he believed to be approximately $11,000
21 to the old Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station, outside the public's view (per the agent's report). At the 22 older Border Patrol Station, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was further questioned and searched, again without the 23 benefit of Miranda warnings.

24 Approximately five hours later, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was contacted by three additional agents and 25 advised of his Miranda warnings, which he invoked. Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was transported to the 26 Metropolitan Correctional Center ("MCC") and charged by complaint with Bulk Cash Smuggling in violation
27 of 31 U.S.C. § 5332. An information was later filed charging him with Failure to File Reports on Exporting
28 Monetary Instruments in violation of 31 U.S.C. § 5316(a)(1)(A) and Criminal Forfeiture in violation of 18

1 U.S.C. § 982(a)(1).

2 To date, counsel for Mr. Aramburo-Urbe has received only 31 pages of discovery. Counsel has not
3 received a videotape of Mr. Aramburo-Urbe's statements or any written statement made by him (although 4 discovery indicates that he was asked to write down how much money he was carrying). Counsel has not
5 received any video surveillance of the area either, despite her requests for any video surveillance.

6 II.

7 MOTION TO COMPEL DISCOVERY AND PRESERVE EVIDENCE

8 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe moves for the production by the government of the following discovery and 9 for the preservation of evidence. This request is not limited to those items about which the prosecutor knows,
10 but includes all discovery listed below that is in the custody, control, care, or knowledge of any government
11 agency. See generally Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419 (1995); United States v. Bryan, 868 F.2d 1032 (9th Cir.
12 1989). To date, the defendant has received approximately 31 pages discovery.

13 1. The Defendant's Statements. The Government must disclose to the defendant all copies of any 14 written or recorded statements made by the defendant; the substance of any statements made by the defendant
15 which the Government intends to offer in evidence at trial; any response by the defendant to interrogation;
16 the substance of any oral statements which the Government intends to introduce at trial and any written 17 summaries of the defendant's oral statements contained in the handwritten notes of the Government agent;
18 any response to any Miranda warnings which may have been given to the defendant; and any other statements
19 by the defendant. Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(A) and (B). The Advisory Committee Notes and the 1991
20 amendments to Rule 16 make clear that the Government must reveal all the defendant's statements, whether 21 oral or written, regardless of whether the government intends to make any use of those statements.

22 2. Arrest Reports, Notes and Dispatch Tapes. Defendant also specifically requests that all arrest
23 reports, notes and dispatch or any other tapes that relate to the circumstances surrounding his arrest or any 24 questioning, if such reports have not already been produced in their entirety, be turned over to him. This 25 request includes, but is not limited to, any rough notes, records, reports, transcripts or other documents in 26 which statements of the defendant or any other discoverable material is contained. This is all discoverable 27 under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(A) and (B) and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). See also Loux v.
28 United States, 389 F.2d 911 (9th Cir. 1968). Arrest reports, investigator's notes, memos from arresting officers, dispatch tapes, sworn statements, and prosecution reports pertaining to the defendant are available under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(A) and (B), Fed. R. Crim. P. 26.2 and 12(i). Preservation of rough notes is requested, whether or not the government deems them discoverable.

3. Brady Material. The defendant requests all documents, statements, agents' reports, and tangible evidence favorable to the defendant on the issue of guilt and/or which affects the credibility of the government's case. Impeachment and exculpatory evidence both fall within Brady's definition of evidence favorable to the accused. United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667 (1985); United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976).

4. Any Information That May Result in a Lower Sentence. As discussed above, any information which may result in a more favorable sentence must also be disclosed pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). The Government must disclose any cooperation or attempted cooperation by the defendant, as well as any information that could affect any base offense level or specific offense characteristic under Chapter Two of the Guidelines. Also included in this request is any information relevant to a Chapter Three adjustment, a determination of the defendant's criminal history, or any other application of the Guidelines.

5. The Defendant's Prior Record. Evidence of a prior record is available under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(D). Counsel specifically requests a complete copy of any criminal record.

6. Any Proposed 404(b) Evidence. Evidence of prior similar acts is discoverable under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(D) and Fed. R. Evid. 404(b) and 609. In addition, under Fed. R. Evid. 404(b), "upon request of the accused, the prosecution . . . shall provide reasonable notice in advance of trial . . . of the general nature" of any evidence the government proposes to introduce under Fed. R. Evid. 404(b) at trial. Sufficient notice requires the government to "articulate precisely the evidential hypothesis by which a fact of consequence may be inferred from the other acts evidence." United States v. Mehrmanesh, 689 F.2d 822, 830 (9th Cir. 1982) (emphasis added; internal citations omitted); see also United States v. Brooke, 4 F.3d 1480, 1483 (9th Cir. 1993) (reaffirming Mehrmanesh and reversing convictions).

This includes any "TECS" records (records of prior border crossings) that the Government intends to introduce at trial, whether in its case-in-chief, impeachment, or rebuttal. Although there is nothing intrinsically improper about prior border crossings, they are nonetheless subject to 404(b), as they are "other acts" evidence that the government must produce before trial. United States v. Vega, 188 F.3d 1150, 1154-

1 1155 (9th Cir. 1999).

2 The defendant requests that such notice be given at least three weeks before trial to give the defense
3 time to adequately investigate and prepare for trial.

4 7. Evidence Seized. Evidence seized as a result of any search, either warrantless or with a warrant,
5 is discoverable under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E).

6 8. Request for Preservation of Evidence. The defense specifically requests that all dispatch tapes
7 or any other physical evidence that may be destroyed, lost, or otherwise put out of the possession, custody,
8 or care of the government and which relate to the arrest or the events leading to the arrest in this case be 9 preserved. This request includes, but is not limited to, the agents' rough notes, the results of any fingerprint 10 analysis, the defendant's personal effects, any evidence seized from the defendant or any third party, and any 11 video surveillance of the Westside Pedestrian Gate Area (WPGA) where Mr. Aramburo-Urbe allegedly 12 got out of line and the area where he was subsequently stopped, as well video surveillance of the former 13 Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station where Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was questioned (a second time).
14 This request also includes any material or percipient witnesses who might be deported or otherwise likely to 15 become unavailable (e.g. undocumented aliens and transients).

16 It is requested that the prosecutor be ordered to question all the agencies and individuals involved
17 in the prosecution and investigation of this case to determine if such evidence exists, and if it does exist, to 18 inform those parties to preserve any such evidence.

19 9. Henthorn Material. The defendant requests that the Assistant United States Attorney ("AUSA")
20 assigned to this case oversee (not personally conduct) a review of all personnel files of each agent involved
21 in the present case for impeachment material. See Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 437, 438 (1995) (holding that 22 "the individual prosecutor has a duty to learn of any favorable evidence known to the others acting on the 23 government's behalf in the case, including the police"); United States v. Henthorn, 931 F.2d 29 (9th Cir.
24 1991). This request includes, but is not limited to, any complaints filed against the agent, whether or not the 25 investigating authority has taken any action, as well as any matter for which a disciplinary review was 26 undertaken, whether or not any disciplinary action was ultimately recommended. The defendant further 27 requests production of any such information at least one week prior to the motion hearing and three weeks
28 prior to trial. If the prosecutor is uncertain whether certain information should be disclosed, this information

1 should be produced to the Court in advance of the motion hearing and the trial for an in camera inspection.

2 10. Tangible Objects. The defendant requests the opportunity to inspect, copy, and test, as 3 necessary, all other documents and tangible objects, including photographs, books, papers, documents, alleged 4 narcotics, fingerprint analyses, vehicles, or copies of portions thereof, which are material to the defense or 5 intended for use in the government's case-in-chief or were obtained from or belong to the defendant. Fed. R.
 6 Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E). Specifically, the defendant requests copies of any video surveillance of Mr. Aramburo-
 7 Uribe, as well as the area where Mr. Aramburo-Uribe was stopped, searched, and questioned.

8 11. Expert Witnesses. The defendant requests the name, qualifications, and a written summary of 9 the testimony of any person that the government intends to call as an expert witness during its case in chief.
 10 Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(G). This summary should include a description of the witness' opinion(s), as well
 11 as the bases and the reasons for the opinion(s). See United States v. Duvall, 272 F.3d 825 (7th Cir. 2001)
 12 (finding that government's written expert notice did not adequately summarize or describe police detective's
 13 testimony in drug prosecution where notice provided only a list of the general subject matters to be covered 14 and failed to identify what opinion the expert would offer on those subjects). This request includes, but is not 15 limited to, disclosure of the qualifications of any government witness who will testify that he understands
 16 and/or speaks Spanish or any other foreign language that may have been used during the course of an 17 interview with the defendant or any other witness.

18 The defense requests the notice of expert testimony be provided at a minimum of three weeks prior 19 to trial so that the defense can properly prepare to address and respond to this testimony, including obtaining 20 its own expert and/or investigating the opinions, credentials of the government's expert and obtain a hearing
 21 in advance of trial to determine the admissibility of qualifications of any expert. See Kumho v. Carmichael 22 Tire Co., 526 U.S. 137, 119 S.Ct. 1167, 1176 (1999) (trial judge is "gatekeeper" and must determine, 23 reliability and relevancy of expert testimony).

24 12. Impeachment evidence. The defendant requests any evidence that any prospective government 25 witness has engaged in any criminal act whether or not resulting in a conviction and whether any witness has 26 made a statement favorable to the defendant. See Fed. R. Evid. 608, 609 and 613. Such evidence is 27 discoverable under Brady v. Maryland. See United States v. Strifler, 851 F.2d 1197 (9th Cir. 1988) (witness'
 28 prior record); Thomas v. United States, 343 F.2d 49 (9th Cir. 1965) (evidence that detracts from a witness' credibility).

13. Evidence of Criminal Investigation of Any Government Witness. The defense requests any evidence that any prospective witness is under investigation by federal, state or local authorities for any criminal conduct. United States v. Chitty, 760 F.2d 425 (2d Cir. 1985).

14. Evidence of Bias or Motive to Lie. The defense requests any evidence that any prospective government witness is biased or prejudiced against the defendant, or has a motive to falsify or distort his or her testimony. Pennsylvania v. Ritchie, 480 U.S. 39 (1987); United States v. Strifler, 851 F.2d 1197 (9th Cir. 1988).

15. Evidence Affecting Perception, Recollection, Ability to Communicate, or Veracity. The defendant requests any evidence, including any medical or psychiatric report or evaluation, tending to show that any prospective witness's ability to perceive, remember, communicate, or tell the truth is impaired; and any evidence that a witness has ever used narcotics or other controlled substance, or has ever been an alcoholic. United States v. Strifler, 851 F.2d 1197 (9th Cir. 1988); Chavis v. North Carolina, 637 F.2d 213, 224 (4th Cir. 1980).

16. Witness Addresses. The defense requests the name and last known address of each prospective government witness. See United States v. Napue, 834 F.2d 1311 (7th Cir. 1987); United States v. Tucker, 716 F.2d 576 (9th Cir. 1983) (failure to interview government witnesses by counsel is ineffective); United States v. Cook, 608 F.2d 1175, 1181 (9th Cir. 1979) (defense has equal right to talk to witnesses). The defendant also requests the name and last known address of every witness to the crime or crimes charged (or any of the overt acts committed in furtherance thereof) who will not be called as a government witness. United States v. Cadet, 727 F.2d 1453 (9th Cir. 1984).

17. Name of Witnesses Favorable to the Defendant. The defendant requests the name of any witness who made any arguably favorable statement concerning the defendant or who could not identify him or who was unsure of his identity, or participation in the crime charged. Jackson v. Wainwright, 390 F.2d 288 (5th Cir. 1968); Chavis v. North Carolina, 637 F.2d 213, 223 (4th Cir. 1980); Jones v. Jago, 575 F.2d 1164, 1168 (6th Cir. 1978); Hudson v. Blackburn, 601 F.2d 785 (5th Cir. 1979), cert. denied, 444 U.S. 1086 (1980).

18. Statements Relevant to the Defense. The defendant requests disclosure of any statement that may be "relevant to any possible defense or contention" that he might assert. United States v. Bailleaux, 685

1 F.2d 1105 (9th Cir. 1982). This includes Grand Jury transcripts which are relevant to the defense's potential
2 motion to dismiss the indictment.

3 19. Jencks Act Material. The defendant requests production in advance of the motion hearing or 4 trial of all material, including dispatch tapes, which the government must produce pursuant to the Jencks Act,
5 18 U.S.C. § 3500 and Fed. R. Crim. P. 26.2. A verbal acknowledgment that "rough" notes constitute an 6 accurate account of the witness' interview is sufficient for the report or notes to qualify as a statement under 7 section 3500(e)(1). Campbell v. United States, 373 U.S. 487, 490-92 (1963); see also United States v.
8 Boshell, 952 F.2d 1101 (9th Cir. 1991) (holding that interview notes constitute Jencks material when an agent
9 reviews notes with the subject of the interview); see also United States v. Riley, 189 F.3d 802, 806-808 (9th
10 Cir. 1999). Advance production will avoid the possibility of delay of the motion hearing or trial to allow the 11 defendant to investigate the Jencks material. Defendant requests pre-trial disclosure of such statements to 12 avoid unnecessary recesses and delays and to allow defense counsel to prepare for, and use properly any 13 Jencks statements during cross-examination.

14 20. Giglio Information. Pursuant to Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972), the defendant
15 requests all statements and/or promises, expressed or implied, made to any government witnesses, in exchange
16 for their testimony in this case, and all other information which could arguably be used for the impeachment 17 of any government witnesses.

18 21. Agreements Between the Government and Witnesses. The defendant requests discovery
19 regarding any express or implicit promise, understanding, offer of immunity, of past, present, or future 20 compensation, or any other kind of agreement or understanding, including any implicit understanding relating 21 to criminal or civil income tax, forfeiture or fine liability, between any prospective government witness and 22 the government (federal, state and/or local). This request also includes any discussion with a potential witness
23 about or advice concerning any immigration benefits, any contemplated prosecution, or any possible plea
24 bargain, even if no bargain was made or the advice not followed.

25 22. Informants and Cooperating Witnesses. The defendant requests disclosure of the names and 26 addresses of all informants or cooperating witnesses used or to be used in this case, and in particular,
27 disclosure of any informant who was a percipient witness in this case or otherwise participated in the crime
28 charged against the defendant. The government must disclose the informant's identity and location, as well

1 as disclose the existence of any other percipient witness unknown or unknowable to the defense. Roviaro v.
2 United States, 353 U.S. 52, 61-62 (1957). The government must disclose any information derived from 3 informants which exculpates or tends to exculpate the defendant.

4 23. Bias by Informants or Cooperating Witnesses. The defendant requests disclosure of any 5 information indicating bias on the part of any informant or cooperating witness. Giglio v. United States,
6 405 U.S. 150 (1972). Such information would include what, if any, inducements, favors, payments or threats
7 were made to the witness to secure cooperation with the authorities.

8 24. Personnel Records of Government Officers Involved in the Arrest. Defendant requests all citizen
9 complaints and other related internal affairs documents involving any of the immigration officers or other law
10 enforcement officers who were involved in the investigation, arrest and interrogation of Defendant. See 11 Pitchess v. Superior Court, 11 Cal. 3d 531, 539 (1974). Because of the sensitive nature of these documents, 12 defense counsel will be unable to procure them from any other source.

13 25. Training of Relevant Law Enforcement Officers. Defendant requests copies of all written,
14 videotaped or otherwise recorded policies or training instructions or manuals issued by all law enforcement
15 agencies involved in the case (Immigration and Customs Enforcement, U.S. Customs and Border Protection, 16 Border Patrol, Department of Homeland Security, etc.) to their employees regarding: (a) the handling of 17 vehicles suspected to be transporting contraband across the port of entry; (b) the referral to secondary 18 inspection of persons within those vehicles; (c) the detention of individuals within those vehicles; (d) the 19 search of those vehicles and the occupants of those vehicles, including the proper means of obtaining consent
20 to search and what constitutes consent to search; (e) the informing of suspects of their Constitutional rights;
21 (f) the questioning of suspects and witnesses. Defendant also requests all written or otherwise attainable
22 information regarding the training of Customs agents at ports of entry in California to detect or discover
23 narcotics in vehicles entering the United States, including any training offered to the law enforcement agencies
24 by the DEA or other law enforcement agencies or individuals.

25 26. Performance Goals and Policy Awards. Defendant requests disclosure of information regarding 26 standards used for measuring, compensating or reprimanding the conduct of all law enforcement officers
27 involved in the case (Customs, Border Patrol, ICE, etc.) to the extent such information relates to the detection
28 of contraband. This request specifically includes information concerning performance goals, policy awards,

1 and the standards used by Customs for commending, demoting, or promoting agents for their performance
 2 at the port of entry and their success or failure to detect illegal narcotics in general.

3 27. Opportunity to View and Photograph the Contraband. Defendant hereby requests an opportunity 4 to view and photograph the monetary instruments confiscated in this case as well as the containers in which 5 they were allegedly found.

6 28. TECS Reports. Defendant requests all TECS reports pertaining to Defendant.

7 29. Reports of Scientific Tests or Examinations. Pursuant to Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(F), the 8 defendant requests the reports of all tests and examinations conducted upon the evidence in this case.
 9 Including, but not limited to, any fingerprint testing done upon any evidence seized in this case, that is within 10 the possession, custody, or control of the government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of 11 due diligence may become known, to the attorney for the government, and which are material to the 12 preparation of the defense or are intended for use by the government as evidence in chief at trial.

13 30. Residual Request. The defense intends by this discovery motion to invoke his rights to discovery
 14 to the fullest extent possible under the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and the Constitution and laws of 15 the United States. This request specifically includes all subsections of Rule 16. The defendant requests that 16 the government provide him and his attorney with the above requested material sufficiently in advance of trial.

17 III.

18 MOTION TO SUPPRESS EVIDENCE UNDER THE FOURTH AMENDMENT

19 The Fourth Amendment of the United States Constitution guarantees the right of people to be secure 20 in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures. U.S. Const. Amend.
 21 IV. "Searches conducted outside the judicial process, without prior approval by judge or magistrate, are per 22 se unreasonable under the Fourth Amendment— subject only to a few specifically established and well-
 23 delineated exceptions." United States v. Ross, 456 U.S. 798, 825 (1982) (citations omitted).

24 A. Officer Ballesteros Lacked Reasonable Suspicion to Stop and Detain Mr. Aramburo-Urbe As 25 He Was Leaving The Westside Pedestrian Gate Area.

26 1. Officer Ballesteros Stopped Mr. Aramburo-Urbe.

27 "A seizure of the person within the meaning of the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments occurs when,
 28 taking into account all of the circumstances surrounding the encounter, the police conduct would have communicated to a reasonable person that he was not at liberty to ignore the police presence and go about his business.” Kaupp v. Texas, 538 U.S. 626 (2003). See also Wallace v. Batavia School Dist. 101, 68 F.3d 1010 (7th Cir.1995) (where teacher momentarily grabbed student’s wrist and elbow to escort student out of classroom in order to prevent a fight, a seizure under the Fourth Amendment took place but such seizure was reasonable under the circumstances). Application of physical force is not required for a seizure to occur. See California v. Hodari D., 499 U.S. 621, 625-626 (1991) (A “seizure” occurs where there is either an application of physical force, even if extremely slight, or submission to the show of lawful authority); Florida v. Bostick, 501 U.S. 429, 436-437 (1991) (Seizure occurs where police conduct communicates to reasonable person that he is not free to leave, or where person’s movement is restricted by some other factor, free to decline officers’ request or terminate the encounter).

In this case, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was trying to leave the Westside Pedestrian Gate Area when he was prevented from doing so— he was told to stop, produce identification, he was patted down, told to move aside, confronted by the officer with his “nervousness,” and told produce the contents of his pockets. Under the circumstances, a reasonable person would not feel free to leave or terminate the encounter with the officer. Thus, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was “seized” for purposes of the Fourth Amendment when he submitted to Officer Ballesteros’ show of authority.

2. Officer Ballesteros Lacked Reasonable Suspicion to Stop Mr. Aramburo-Urbe.

Reasonable suspicion requires that the officer making a stop be “aware of specific, articulable facts which, when considered with objective and reasonable inferences, form a basis for particularized suspicion.” United States v. Montero-Camargo, 208 F.3d 1122, 1129 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc) (emphasis added). A mere “hunch” is insufficient to justify a such a stop. Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1, 22, 27 (1968). At a minimum, reasonable suspicion is required to stop individuals who turn around before reaching a checkpoint. United States v. Ogilvie, 527 F.2d 330, 331 (9th Cir. 1975) (“Because Ogilvie was not stopped at the checkpoint in the ordinary course of its operations, we treat this stop as falling with the ‘roving patrol’ variety. The minimum requirement to justify such a stop is that the Border Patrol officers possess a reasonable suspicion, founded on specific articulable facts . . .”).

Officer Ballesteros stopped Mr. Aramburo-Urbe after he turned around before reaching the temporary inspection site at the WPGA. Therefore, reasonable suspicion, based on specific articulable facts,

1 is required to justify the initial stop in this case. Officer Ballesteros did not have a reasonable suspicion, based
 2 on specific, articulable facts which, when considered with objective and reasonable inferences, formed a basis
 3 for particularized suspicion that Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was engaged in criminal activity.

4 According to the report of investigation, Officer Ballesteros stopped Mr. Aramburo-Urbe because
 5 he got out of the line to go into Mexico and turned around and walked northbound. Thus, Officer Ballesteros
 6 believed that Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was trying to avoid inspection by law enforcement. However, turning
 7 around and changing directions before a checkpoint is insufficient to establish reasonable suspicion. Ogilvie,
 8 527 F.2d at 332 (“We hold that the proximity of the turn to the checkpoint, regardless of the legality of the 9 checkpoint, was not a sufficient foundation on which to rest a reasonable suspicion.”). See also Wong Sun
 10 v. United States, 371 U.S. 471, 483, n. 10 (1963). Accordingly, this Court must suppress all evidence 11 obtained from the stop, questioning and search of Mr. Aramburo-Urbe. Wong Sun, 371 U.S. 484-486.

12 B. Mr. Aramburo-Urbe’s Fourth Amendment Rights Were Violated When Officer Ballesteros
 13 Seized Him Without Reasonable Suspicion or Probable Cause.

14 “It is basic that an arrest with or without a warrant must stand upon firmer ground than mere
 15 suspicion” Wong Sun, 371 U.S. at 479. “The history of the use, and not infrequent abuse, of the power
 16 to arrest cautions that a relaxation of the fundamental requirements of probable cause would ‘leave
 17 law-abiding citizens at the mercy of the officers’ whim or caprice.” Id. The existence of probable cause 18 depends on “whether at that moment [the arrest was made] the facts and circumstances within [the officers’]
 19 knowledge and of which they had reasonably trustworthy information were sufficient to warrant a prudent
 20 man in believing that the petitioner had committed or was committing an offense.” Beck v. State of Ohio, 21 379 U.S. 89, 91 (1964). “The history of the use, and not infrequent abuse, of the power to arrest cautions that 22 a relaxation of the fundamental requirements of probable cause would ‘leave law-abiding citizens at the mercy
 23 of the officers’ whim or caprice.” Wong Sun, 371 U.S. at 479. Even if this Court finds that the initial stop
 24 of Mr. Aramburo-Urbe complied with the Fourth Amendment, his subsequent seizure was not supported by 25 probable cause, or even reasonable suspicion. Thus, all evidence obtained therefrom must be suppressed.
 26 Wong Sun, 371 U.S. 471.

27 According to the report of investigation, upon being stopped, Officer Ballesteros asked 28 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe where he was going and he stated that he was going to Mexico. He also stated that he

1 left his phone at the Nike store. According to the report, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe appeared nervous. Officer
2 Ballesteros asked Mr. Aramburo-Urbe why he was nervous and Mr. Aramburo-Urbe allegedly stated,
3 “because you’re talking to me.” Officer Ballesteros claims to have asked Mr. Aramburo-Urbe if he was 4 carrying any “money” and Mr. Aramburo-Urbe allegedly stated that he was not carrying money. However,
5 when asked to empty his pockets, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe produced several blank money orders. Officer
6 Ballesteros estimated that they totaled around $11,000. Officer Ballesteros then advised Mr. Aramburo-Urbe
7 of the reporting requirements, which Mr. Aramburo-Urbe acknowledged. The report of investigation notes
8 that there were no currency reporting signs posted in the WPGA.

9 Despite the fact that Mr. Aramburo-Urbe never reached the inspection area, was leaving the WPGA
10 when stopped, and was no longer headed toward Mexico, Officer Ballesteros physically escorted 11 Mr. Aramburo-Urbe to the old Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station. At the time, Officer Ballesteros had 12 in his possession Mr. Aramburo-Urbe’s identification, which he had previously taken from him, and what 13 he believed to be approximately $11,000 in money orders. The officer’s actions amounted to an arrest for 14 which probable cause was required. See e.g., Kaupp, 538 U.S. at 630 (involuntary transport of defendant to 15 police station is sufficiently like arrest to invoke traditional rule that arrests may be made only upon probable
16 cause); United States v. Beck, 598 F.2d 497, 501-502 (9th Cir. 1979) (holding that defendants were arrested 17 and not merely subjected to investigative detention where three law enforcement vehicles boxed in taxi in 18 which defendants were passengers and defendants were physically escorted by two agents to separate locations
19 where they were questioned and frisked); Commonwealth v. Bosurgi, 411 Pa. 56, 68 (Pa. 1963) (“An arrest 20 may be accomplished by an act that indicates an intention to take a person into custody and subjects him to 21 the actual control of the police officers.”).

22 In any event, Officer Ballesteros did not have either reasonable suspicion or probable cause to further 23 detain Mr. Aramburo-Urbe. Although according to Officer Ballesteros’s report, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe did 24 not declare the money orders, he did not have a duty to declare them. Mr. Aramburo was not leaving the 25 United States at the time he was stopped by Officer Ballesteros, but rather, he was heading north to look for 26 his phone.

27 Although the report of investigation indicates that upon being stopped, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was 28 acting nervously, a large number of people who are stopped by law enforcement act nervously. Nervousness far from establishes probable cause. In fact, the Ninth Circuit has repeatedly held that nervousness does not even establish reasonable suspicion. Moreno v. Baca, 400 F.3d 1152, 1168 (9th Cir. 2005) (reaffirming the well-established principle that nervousness in a high crime area, without more, does not create reasonable suspicion); United States v. Chavez-Valenzuela, 268 F.3d 719, 726 (9th Cir. 2001) (holding that “nervousness alone” does not give rise to reasonable suspicion), amended by 279 F.3d 1062 (9th Cir. 2002); United States v. Garcia-Camacho, 53 F.3d 244, 247 (9th Cir. 1995) (holding that a “surprised” and “terrified” look on the defendant’s face when pulled over by law enforcement does not give rise to reasonable suspicion); United States v. Rodriguez, 976 F.2d 592, 595-96 (9th Cir. 1992) (holding that the defendant’s repeated glances at law enforcement officers through a rear-view mirror did not give rise to reasonable suspicion).

Thus, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe’s nervousness and alleged failure to declare the money order did not give rise to reasonable suspicion, let alone probable cause, that he committed a crime. Therefore, this Court must suppress all evidence obtained as a fruit of the search and seizure of Mr. Aramburo-Urbe.

IV.

MOTION TO SUPPRESS STATEMENTS PURSUANT TO THE FIFTH AMENDMENT AND COMPEL AN EVIDENTIARY HEARING

Mr. Aramburo-Urbe moves to suppress any statements given in violation of Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 (1966). An individual who is questioned while “in custody or otherwise deprived of his freedom of action in a significant way” must first be advised of his Miranda rights. Id., at 444. In Dickerson v. United States, 530 U.S. 428 (2000), the Supreme Court held that Miranda warnings are not merely prophylactic; rather, they are of constitutional magnitude. Id. at 444. (“[W]e conclude that Miranda announced a constitutional rule”).

Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was initially questioned after being ordered to produce his identification, frisked, and ordered to step-aside. He was also confronted with his nervousness. These facts support the conclusion that the initial interrogation was custodial and thus should have been proceeded by Miranda warnings. Because Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was not provided with Miranda warnings prior to this initial questioning, his statements should be suppressed regardless of whether this Court determines that his seizure was reasonable for Fourth Amendment purposes. See United States v. Kim, 292 F.3d 969, 976 (9th Cir. 2002) (noting that whether a person has been unreasonably seized for Fourth Amendment purposes and whether an individual is “in custody” for Fifth Amendment purposes are two different issues).

Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was again questioned, without the benefit of Miranda warnings after being taken to the old Imperial Beach Border Patrol Station. Mr. Aramburo-Urbe was clearly in custody at that time. Thus, his second set of statements made inside the old border patrol station and outside the public’s view must also be suppressed.

Alternatively, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe requests that this Court hold an evidentiary hearing to determine the admissibility of any alleged statements. If a waiver of Miranda is alleged, the government bears the burden of demonstrating the waiver by clear and convincing evidence. See Schell v. Witek, 218 F.3d 1017, 1023 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc) (“[c]onstitutional rights may ordinarily be waived only if it can be established by clear and convincing evidence that the waiver is voluntary, knowing, and intelligent”) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). Moreover, this Court must “indulge every reasonable presumption against waiver of fundamental constitutional rights.” Id. at 1024 (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). According, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe requests a voluntariness hearing pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3501 and a Miranda hearing to determine the admissibility of any alleged statement.

V.

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE FURTHER MOTIONS

Mr. Aramburo-Urbe has received only 31 pages of discovery. Mr. Aramburo-Urbe believes discovery is not yet complete and respectfully requests the opportunity to file further motions as may be necessary after reviewing additional discovery and conducting independent investigation.

VI.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Mr. Aramburo-Urbe respectfully requests that the Court grant the above motions.

Respectfully submitted,
